THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things
Political Occurring At Harrisburg

By International News Service

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(INS).—Sure signs that John U. Shroyer has lost ground in his insurgent campaign to capture the Republican gubernatorial nomination have become apparent on Capitol Hill. While the regular organization controls the political thinking of some employees who fancy some grievance against the powers-that-be, when Shroyer started off, there was scattered support for him but as the campaign progressed it virtually disappeared. Even Democrats, hoping for a slam-bang GOP primary that would split the vote, ruefully admit that the organization was a sure winner.

Rep. Irving S. Dix (R) Wayne has taken purchased columns of political advertising in a Honesdale newspaper to claim credit for what he believes to be a State Highway Department roadmaking policy. He said the "farm-to-market" program was advanced in a legislative resolution he had sponsored during the 1945 session. Dix, a candidate for a fifth term, sought to leave readers with the impression that the resolution had been sanctioned by the House but in reality the proposal never was reported from the Highway Committee. He claimed the Highway Department had "adopted" the road plan but responsible officials said they never heard of the resolution.

A Pennsylvania newspaper has called for a "people's lobby" to guard the public against exploitation by high-powered pressure groups. The newspaper pointed out that the lobbies which operate at the State Capitol represent the interests of oil, utilities, teachers, veterans, farmers, dairymen and prohibitionists. "They (lobbies) have no politics save that of carrying favor with whatever party is in power, without losing their connection with minority factions," the editorial stated. "To the lobbies the people are meaningless blobs in the background."

Building Code Passed By Langhorne Council

LANGHORNE, May 13.—A building code was passed by Langhorne borough council at its May meeting, which code will have a bearing on all building construction here in the future.

A profile of the borough, showing elevation of streets, will aid the council in future plans for street improvements. These plans will be submitted to council at the June meeting.

Brauchle, son of Mrs. Anna Brauchle, Edgely avenue. The ceremony was performed in St. Michael's Church, Philadelphia, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's gown was of white satin cut on princess lines with long sleeves and a full train. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Helen Berich, sister of the bride, chose a pastel blue gown; and the bridesmaids, Miss Ann Brodich and Miss Ella Patz, Philadelphia, were attired in pink. Their gowns were cut on princess lines, and they carried bouquets of pink roses.

Mr. Alois T. Brauchle, brother of the groom, served as best man.

The bride's mother wore a silk print gown, while the groom's wore a gown of light green. Both had yellow rose corsages.

A bridal dinner for members of the immediate families was served at 4:30, followed by a reception at seven in Tiroler Hall, Philadelphia, with approximately 150 guests attending.

U. S. AND THE PRIMARY

The Primary Election a week from tomorrow has an importance in connection with national affairs which may escape the attention of many who perform their duty and go to the polls and vote.

Most of the names on the ballot will be those of candidates for State office. But the two national offices for which nominees are to be chosen are of paramount significance. Only the actual election of a new President could more profoundly affect America's future.

The highest office on the ballot is that of United States Senator, for which Governor Martin is the outstanding Republican candidate.

The Senate is the Upper House of the National Congress. It not only votes on laws and taxes, but has a great deal to do with working out foreign policy, as well as approving or rejecting many important appointments by the President.

Pennsylvania, although a Republican State, at present has no Republican votes in the U. S. Senate. The two Senators are both Democrats and both were elected in Roosevelt sweeps. Certainly at least one Senator should represent the Republican majority in Pennsylvania.

Because only a third of the U. S. Senate comes up for election this year, it is considered doubtful that the Republicans can win a majority. Those who are elected, however, will greatly reduce the strength of the powerful New Deal element in the Senate.

The situation is different in the House of Representatives, the members of which usually are spoken of as Congressmen. Each Congressional district votes on its Congressman this year, so that if the Republican tide continues as strong as it is at present, the next House of Representatives (which will meet next January) is almost certain to have a majority of Republicans.

Such a change will be most helpful to the American people. It will break the present deadlock resulting from the split between the so-called "Southern" Democrats and the rest of the Democratic party.

Among the important results would be to begin straightening out the present tangled state of national finances. Since the House of Representatives is the part of Congress which has to start appropriations on their way, the President would have to commence economizing and put his budget in balance, whether he wants to or not.

SCHEFFEY IS MEMBER OF "NIPPON DRAGONS"

Bristol Officer Named Secretary of Drexel Group Located in Tokyo

THIRTEEN ASSEMBLE

Thirteen Drexel men, all Army officers, have organized the "Nippon Dragons" Club in Tokyo, Japan. The name springs from Drexel origin since the Tech teams are known as the "Dragons."

"Our lives were changed by the war. Each of the fellows who met recently here in Tokyo followed separate paths when we left Drexel, paths that none of us ever dreamed of experiencing. But now once again our paths have led to the same spot," said Lt. Richard L. Scheffey, the group's secretary in his letter to the Alumni office at Drexel.

Scheffey, the correspondent, is from Monroe street, Bristol, and graduated from Bristol high school in '38. He has been in service 29 months. Before entering the Air Corps Lt. Scheffey studied mechanical engineering at Drexel Institute of Technology in Philadelphia.

The "Nippon Dragons" first met on February 24th in the lounge of the Yuraku building, just off the court. Seven men were present at this first meeting. The time was mainly devoted to discussing experiences recently encountered and talking over the "old days" at Drexel.

Scheffey said in his letter: "We managed to elect Ervin Bickley president of the outfit, but we failed to give ourselves a name." The evening ended around the piano, all singing to the accompaniment of Lt. Thomas Heselbarth.

WILLS FILED IN SEVERAL ESTATES IN BUCKS COUNTY

Value of Estate of Herman F. Voss Is Given as $45,000 in Inventory

THE KNIGHT ESTATE

Letters Are Granted in A Number of Estates By Register of Wills

DOYLESTOWN, May 13.—Herman F. Voss, well-known New Britain hosiery manufacturer who died March 26, left a personal estate of $15,000 and real estate valued at $30,000, according to his will probated in the Register of Wills Office, here.

Real estate holdings included his home, an estate along Route 292 in New Britain, and four houses on Van Kirk street in Philadelphia.

The testator, who executed his will February 10, 1942, named his son, Victor J. Voss, and a daughter, Matilda Hartmann, the heirs of all his stock in the Victor Silk Hosiery Company, one of the leading industries of its kind in Bucks county. They were also bequeathed his dwelling house.

A $30,000 trust fund was created for the benefit of three grandchildren, Marie, Thomas and Matilda McGeary, with certain stipulations. The son and daughter were named the beneficiaries of the residue of their father's estate.

With the exception of bequests of $3,000 to a niece, Alice Knight, Trenton, and $1200 to a nephew, Thomas L. Knight, Wynecote, the $6300 personal estate of Anna T. Knight, Newtown, will be inherited by three beneficiaries, Mary K. Parry, Langhorne; Anna P. Longshore, Melrose, Mass., and Edward T. Knight, Jenkintown. The testatrix, who died April 1, named Thomas L. Knight, Wynecote, executor.

Eight children, Cecelia Lear Yardley; Florence Neely, Trenton; Mabel Murray, Eva Delehanty, Ruth Batt, Edith, William and Chester Crounham, all of Yardley, will share the $11,600 real estate holdings of their mother, Anna Crounham, of Yardley. The testatrix, who died February 13, executed her will January 29, 1942, and named William Crounham executor.

ONE MAN'S OPINION -

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

The coal miners have taken a two-week vacation from unemployment. Millions of others now are back at work until John Lewis shifts his cigar into the other side of his mouth.

As soon as Mr. Truman said he was looking for a way to get the miners back without Mr. Lewis' "acquiescence," Mr. Lewis decided he needed 12 days to re-examine his oral artillery.

Comparisons of John L. and Mussolini are not quite fair -- Mussolini didn't interrupt railroad schedules, he made the trains run on time.

The coal strike will be followed by the railroad strike this month -- then the maritime strike in June. There still are a few dates available for national strikes in July and August.

Reservations should be made as early as possible to insure the fullest publicity -- and please try not to have two major strikes overlap -- we're still short of newspaper and cameramen.

BASEBALL DIPLOMACY

Mexican amity with the United States, which reached a high point in war co-operation, still is on the upsurge. It is being measured not by documented State Department reports, but by a new yardstick—that of baseball. The "Yanqui" national game threatens to rival even bull-fighting below the border.

Promoters of the new Mexican League are making offers so succulent that they are tempting some American big league stars. Babe Ruth seems to have been the latest diamond celebrity to lend an attractive ear. At least the Babe took a trip over the border "just for a visit and talk things over with the Pasquel brothers." Not that the top hero of a few years ago would risk his sagging frame on the diamond again, but there is something in the wind about an executive post in the sombrero league.

Cuba, another neighbor, has revealed in baseball for years. If all the Latin-American countries were to see that baseball is the very essence of democracy, this nation might fare better in hemisphere relations than its State Department deserves.

THE CASE FOR BLIMPS

If the World War I dirigibles that gave the world a faint hint of what aerial bombing could do to cities did not reappear in the last war, because they had been outdistanced by more efficient carriers of destruction, the airship did not supersede the airplane altogether. The blimps survived the competition of heavier-than-air craft and they made a notable contribution to victory.

Indeed, they deserve considerably more credit than they have been given, judging from a pamphlet made public the other day by Rear Admiral Charles E. Rosendahl. Certainly it is something of an eye-opener to learn that these non-rigid airships escorted 89,000 surface vessels during the war and not one of their charges was lost to enemy action while they were on guard.

When the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor, according to Admiral Rosendahl, the United States possessed only six obsolete blimps. Thereafter 134 were produced for actual service, and of that number one was shot down in action when its bomb release failed during a fight with a submarine in the Caribbean. There were no other battle casualties. The record is remarkable in the light of statistics which reveal that eight squadrons of eight ships, operative 87 per cent of the time, flew 550,000 hours from stations ranging from Alaska to Gibraltar.

Admiral Rosendahl spoke with special pride of the Gibraltar patrol. Blimps, he said, guarded the straits in weather so bad that planes could not fly and, after they took over, kept that vital stretch of water free of submarines. "I believe," he said, "that the United States will neglect an important weapon if lighter-than-air development is not continued." The record of this craft in the recent conflict constitutes a good case.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol June 4, 1891. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The annual meeting of the Bristol Water Company was held on last Thursday evening. The annual report which was read by the clerk, G. M. Dorrance, showed the finances of the company to be in first-class condition. An election for directors resulted in the selection of Anthony Swain, L. A. Hoguet, G. M. Dorrance, William Kinney, Charles J. Scott, Lemuel Jarvis and Horatio Bailey.

While a youth named G. Harrison Sherman was in a boat off Badger's Point on Saturday last, he discovered sticking in the mud a short sword 17 inches in length, which when the rust that had encrusted it had been removed, showed the date 1745 upon its blade. Besides the figures there were several undecipherable marks upon it.

Following items from Gazette of June 11, 1891:

The sessions at the "Poster Memorial School" closed last evening for the summer and will not be reopened until fall. The success of the school has been marked, and much good has been accomplished through its medium.

Angus York has been awarded the contract for building three pairs of houses for the Jefferson Land Association on the Washington street extension. The houses will be constructed with all modern conveniences, and will be of fine design. The association proposed erecting 20 houses on the tract belonging to it.

A freight train was stopped on the Mill street crossing between 6.50 and 7.20 Saturday evening. The train hands were requested to cut the train but refused to do so.

The Century Bicycle Club will leave Newark, N. J., next Saturday, 13th instant, at four o'clock a. m. They will take dinner at Trenton.

U. S. AND THE PRIMARY

President Truman's budget, as now before Congress, calls for the biggest peacetime spending in all history, many times higher than normal. Part of it is to be financed by juggling the dangerously large national debt. The rest would be paid for by continuing taxes at a level which is much too high.

While far too few Americans realize it, taxes are paid by those who work for their living. Taxes which are too high come out of what they earn for what they produce, and also out of what they pay for what they buy. The working people of America as consumers are carrying the tax burden; in the long run, it is unavoidable that "middlemen" taxes get pushed along to them—how else can such taxes be paid under any economy?

Tax reductions therefore are for the benefit, not so much of businessmen, as of working people. Lower taxes mean higher wages and lower prices. Tax increases always mean less purchasing power for the dollar of wages.

The reason for the high budget and resulting high taxes is some of the most astounding waste and extravagance in all history. A President who wanted too, or a Congress which was determined to, could quickly cut the budget more than half, and permit large tax reductions, with no sacrifice to any essential function of government.

Take the single item of salaries to Federal employees. According to Democrats themselves, the Federal payroll is three times as large as it needs to be. The waste here is at least $5 billions a year, or about $35 each for each of the men, women and children of the country—$175 a year to each family of five.

If a Republican Congress did no more than refuse to keep on making the appropriations out of which all these jobs are paid, it would still have done a major service to the country. It would have reduced the tax burden of government $175 a year to the average family—permitted them to use for their own needs that amount of money which otherwise would have been eaten up in concealed taxes, and spent for political purposes.

Such questions serve to illustrate the immense improvement to government which would result from election of a Republican Congress this year.

If it is the sort of program you favor, and if you are a registered Republican, you can help it along by going to the polls at the Primary Election, May 21, and voting for the regular Republican ticket.

The original group consisted of Lts. Charlton P. McCormick, Albert DePelle, Ervin Bickley, William J. Pochman, Frederick R. Callowhill, Thomas Heselbarth and Scheffey.

The second meeting was held on March 4th at the same place. Through the efforts of the original members more Drexel men attended, bringing the membership up to 13. President Truman will receive today the world famous report of former President Hoover, and will also confer on food with Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the British Council. This country's Emergency Food Collection Drive to raise money and canned foods for starving areas opens today.

Soft-coal operators, although denying legal responsibility, are expected to yield on the two-day overtime issue, raising anew hopes for breaking the deadlock. Senators, however, showed no inclination to halt their drive for anti-strike laws. A new situation developed when a number of locals voted against returning to the pits for the twelve-day truce.

companion, Frank Sutton, rendered a number of vocal selections.

Thieves entered the coal office of Robert Kenderline, South State street, Newtown, one night the past week, and using a heavy sledge knocked the combination off an unlocked safe.

Another safe, which was unlocked was rummaged, some papers valuable to Mr. Kenderline only and a bag containing a sum of money was not disturbed.

State Police were summoned when the robbery was discovered in the morning. The Newtown Reliance Company has offered a reward for the apprehension of the thieves.

Text:

"Unto you therefore which believe He is precious . . ." (I Peter 2:7.)

O Lord, we humbly thank Thee for Jesus Christ Thy Son, for we realize that in Him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead. Grant that our affections shall be set upon Him, that we might walk in unbroken fellowship with Him, so that when He comes again the second time, we shall not be ashamed before Him at His appearing. May we be so taken up with Him that each passing day will find Him becoming increasingly dear to us. We ask this in Jesus' Name, Amen.

BRISTOL MAN IS TOPS IN SHOOTING MATCH RECENTLY

Joseph McClain, Sr., Gets Top Score of 56 in Match

19 BATTLE IT OUT

Non-Members of Club Enjoyed The Program Outlined For The Day

The Tru-Sport Game Club, of Bucks County, held a trapshoot recently on their grounds above Doylestown. Nineteen members were battling it out for the top score of the day. The high score of the match was made by Joseph McClain, Sr., of Bristol. The scores were as follows:

75-class: J. McClain, Sr., 56; C. Wandall, 39; G. McGreen, 39; P. Guretske, 28; W. Werrett, 27.
50-class: G. Wandall, 31; J. McClain, Jr., 26; T. B. Smith, 26; T. Collett, 26; C. Kocmund, 25; G. Connoid, 22; J. Funk, 19; J. P. McClain, 16; F. Wittee, 14; J. Brozyno, 14; R. Wittee, 14.
25-class: D. Taffinder, 12; W. H. Leeds, 8; R. Montross, 4.

The non-members of the club enjoyed the day very much, testing their skill.

The field captain, G. Wandall, and his committee, did a very good job conducting the biggest shoot the club has had. F. Wittee and his committee went over big with the refreshment stand.

After the trapshoot, 10 men took a turn of shooting quail and this was a lot of fun.

This club is a new club and is working hard to get a good group of true sports in Bucks County to protect the game and wild life of the streams and fields.

CROYDON VETERANS SCORE A SHUT-OUT

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, May 13—In a tilt abbreviated by rain, the Croydon Veterans of Foreign Wars team scored a 7-0 shutout win over the Fort Monmouth army nine, yesterday afternoon, on the Bensalem high school field.

The soldiers had a great deal of difficulty in solving the slants of "Herm" Pluma who allowed two hits in the curtailed contest. During the five frames that Fort Monmouth batted, only sixteen batters faced Pluma.

He allowed two hits. One of these batters was wiped off in a double-play while the other was caught off first base. The "Vets" did some fine fielding, only one error being committed and the winners executing two fine twin-killings.

The Fort Monmouth team used three hurlers on the mound. Glenn Fowler started and pitched until the fourth when relieved by Sheely. Sheely failed to finish the inning and Dagey was called in.

BRISTOL A. A. WINS ITS THIRD VICTORY

Tabbing two runs in the last half of the eighth inning, Bristol A. A. won its third game in the Trenton Industrial League yesterday afternoon on Leedom's field, scoring a one-run victory over the Trenton Potteries, 4-3.

It was "Vic" Rockhill who started the ball rolling in the two-run frame. He hit to Swieconeck who bobbled the grounder, Joe Walde singled and Rockhill came home, Walde going to second on the throw-in. Keegan also hit to Swieconeck who again erred and this time, Walde crossed the platter with what proved to be the winning tally.

Bristol plays State Highway next Thursday and will meet the Trenton Potteries again Friday evening on Leedom's field.

Ask for Extension of Neibauer Bus Route

A hearing is being held today in Philadelphia before the Public Utility Commission where evidence is being presented to show the necessity for an extension of the Neibauer Bus Service.

Permission is being asked to operate the buses over Rogers Road and Old Rodgers Road in Bristol Township.

The Neibauer buses now operate along Route 13 to the intersection of Newport Road and then to Newportville, Hulmeville and Newtown.

The route, if permission is granted, will be extended to include Old Rodgers Road, and Rodgers Road to Durham Road. This will give service to the residents of Winder Village.
